THE FORD MOTORIST PARTY RETURNS FROM THEIR 5,000-MILE TRIP.

The Cavalcade Gets Back Safe and Sound, After a Long and Arduous Journey.

The Ford touring party that left here Monday, March 18, for Detroit, to bring back a string of new cars, arrived in Stony Saturday noon, having had a very enjoyable trip, with few mishaps. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Baron, Ed Baron, W. Barth, E. Anderson.

The party went down by the south route, thru Coutts, and arrived in Detroit in record time. They met up with Mr. Henry Miller Jr. and several others from this district.

After paying visits to the various auto plants, the party started for home, by the same route they took going down. Coming up thru Montana, the party encountered the well-known John Reiser and Jac Javoraky.

Continuing their journey, they arrived in Innisfail on Friday the 5th, where Mr. Baron visited with his sister, Mrs. D. W. Pattie, and Serg. Pattie, of the R.C.M.P.

A Believer in Signs.

The new sign in blue and gold which Druggist Hayes has just put in his south window is being much admired. This is the work of that eminent artist Oom Paul Werner, whose mural decorations now adorn public halls in cities in the East, and who once nearly made his appearance before Royalty.

Dr Haworth to Locate Here.

Dr Haworth, a former resident of the town, was a visitor at The Sun office last week. The Doctor has not yet closed the deal he had on, for the purchase of an acreage plot of land near town, but has hopes he will be able to close the negotiations in a short time. The Doctor is at present located near Bremner Station, where he has a herd of young cattle under observation for their reaction to certain treatments.

Oldtimer Buried.

The funeral took place Thursday April 4 of one of Stony's oldtime residents, Mr. Henry Miller. Upon retiring from farming in Blueberry district he had resided on Meridian road for a number of years, later moving to Edmonton with his wife. He was in his 79th year; he was of a genial disposition, and had numerous friends.

A private service was held at the family residence on 93d street, Edmonton; and another service at St. Peter's Lutheran church, at which Rev. A. J. Miller officiated, assisted by Rev. H. J. Boettcher.

Deceased is survived by his wife, 2 sons, John B. of Heatherdown, and Henry, of Edmonton; four daughters, Mrs. E. Baron, of Blueberry; Mrs. A. Spengler, of Bilby; Mrs. J. Mayer, Blueberry; Mrs. Joe Singer, Edmonton.

Canada's Greatest Problem

The Canadian people are confronted with a gigantic problem. We say the Canadian people adversely because, while governments, Federal, Provincial and Municipal are all struggling with it, the problem is one towards the solution of which individual citizens must make their contribution. The fact that it is a problem facing all other nations offers no consolation because the more acute and difficult it is in other lands only serves to make it more difficult in Canada.

The problem can be stated in two or three words—unemployment and relief.

The unemployed man or woman wants work and the wages which work will bring to them. Falling work and wages, they must be provided by Governments with the necessities of life—food, clothing, fuel and shelter.

Such necessities can, of course, only be provided by the State through the taxation of those other men and women who are employed, or still have some savings accumulated throughout the years of the past in order to make provision for their own future and old age. The only other way is for Governments to borrow money and add such borrowings to their public debts upon which interest must be paid through increased taxation, and the principal sum of which is passed on as a liability for future generations to meet.

So far as municipalities, with their small and limited sources of revenue, are concerned, many have reached the limit of what their taxpayers are able to pay in order to care for those who are unemployed. Further taxation simply means that more people will be unable to pay it, and, failing to do so, will lose what they still have and will, in turn, be forced "on relief." Faced with this situation, a largely attended conference of the mayors of the leading cities and towns of Canada unanimously declared the inability of the municipalities to any longer carry their share of the relief burden and called upon the Federal Government to assume it in its entirety.

On their part, the Provinces—and more particularly the Western Provinces, which, in addition to the general and world-wide economic depression, have suffered more severely than other portions of the Dominion because of successive years of crop failures owing to the unprecedented drought conditions which have prevailed,—now find it impossible to raise, either by taxation or borrowings, the Provincial share of relief expenditures and at the same time assume the share of the municipalities.

It must be recognized, therefore,—the truth cannot be ignored,—that the problem is a national one, and one that most intimately concerns every Canadian citizen and every Canadian interest. This must now be accepted as a fact even though under the constitution of this country the responsibility of making provision for people in need is primarily a municipal responsibility. That is, the actual facts of the situation override all constitutional apocrypha.

Then, there is the other side of the picture. Tens of thousands of people who are "on relief" complain that the amounts allotted to them are inadequate to their needs and desires. They are insistent in their demands that relief allowances be substantially increased. They are organizing to enforce their demands, and all over the country communistic agitators are playing upon their distress and worries and arousing their passions and making demands which it is manifestly impossible for the remainder of the people to satisfy.

These agitators all loudly object to people on relief being asked to render any service whatever in return for the payments being regularly made to them. They insist that no person should be called upon by the municipality in which they reside to perform any work in return for the assistance extended to them. They refuse to recognize that, in effect, people are being paid what is tantamount to wages in advance, small though they may be, by their other fellow citizens, and they declare that to ask relief recipients to render any service in return for such assistance is to make "slaves" of them.

Yet Canadian workers of the name, and knowing their country's difficulties, should be grateful for what is being done in their behalf, and if there is any manhood left in them they should not only be ready and willing, but actually anxious, to make what return they can to their fellow citizens and their country. These agitators demand work,—not for themselves but for those they would make their dupes,—and when work in its usually accepted meaning cannot be provided but State assistance is extended, they then advocate refusal to work in exchange for such assistance, or even for a small fraction of it. Why? Because they are out to destroy the very institutions of government and the very people who are now providing the unemployed with the necessities of life.

Such is the major Canadian problem of to-day. It is one, let it be repeated and emphasized, that vitally affects every citizen. It is their problem; what are they going to do about it?

We submit that the citizen who is employed, or has an income, or some reserves, should pay his taxes uncompilingly, willingly and promptly and thus assist his country in a time of great difficulty. More, he should make every effort to provide a little work, no matter how small or temporary the job may be, for some one out of work, and thus relieve the pressure.

We submit further that all persons on relief should be reasonable in their demands, should endeavor to get along with as little as possible, rather than demand more. And they should show their manhood and self-respect by willingly, and at all times, rendering such service in return to their fellow citizens as it may be in their power to render.

This is no time to "rock the boat," and any person who seeks to do so is not a true Canadian, but has an ulterior motive to serve, and may well be described as an enemy of the country.

To Abolish Noise

"Silent" House Will Be Shown At London Exhibition

London is to have a "house of hush," a house so quiet that in it a person may be able to hear the proverbial pin drop. There is to be a "silence" exhibition in June at which it will be possible to see—but not to hear—the following:

A silent house, with silent lift and silent locks, sound-proof ventilating windows, sound-proof doors; silenced motorcycles; a noiseless motorcar; silent vacuum cleaners; silent road drills; a silent factory room.

The exhibition, at the Science Museum, South Kensington, will be organized by the Anti-Noise League, of which Lord Horder is president.

HER ARMS AND LEGS IMMOVABLE

Ten Years With Rheumatism

To this woman it must have been like commencing to live a new life when she began to use her arms and legs again, after they had been helpless for ten years.

"I suffer from rheumatism," she writes, "and had been bedridden since 1920. I could not move arms or legs, and had to be fed like a child. Everybody thought I should be an invalid all my life. I forced myself to fight against it, and tried a number of different things. It was Kruschen that eventually saved me, and to-day I consider it is saving my life. My condition has greatly improved, and my limbs are gradually becoming more supple. Already I can eat without assistance, and dress myself. I had not done for ten years."—M. H.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effective solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acid needles through the natural channel.

Germany's Air Force

Hitler Reports It Is Numerically Stronger Than Britain's

The London Daily Mail said Adolf Hitler had informed Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, that Germany already has an air force numerically stronger than Great Britain's.

The Daily Mail did not reveal the source of its information but it was known Simon returned from Berlin with documents presented to him by Hitler in which, it is understood, Der Fuhrer frankly revealed the extent of Germany's armaments in the air.

The disclosure of Germany's air strength was reported to have caused grave concern to the British cabinet. Ministers held several informal meetings for a preliminary discussion on what is expected to be "a show-down" debate on the entire German situation when Capt. Anthony Eden, lord privy seal, returns from a swing through European capitals.

Error In Scottish Notes

Many Millions Have To Be Withdrawn From Circulation

Following the detection of an error which had existed in the design in Scottish bank notes for many years, millions of them will be withdrawn from circulation. The Bank of Scotland, the National Bank of Scotland, and the British Linen Bank have been using the royal arms in the design of their notes. The royal arms are the ensigns of public authority, and can only be used by the King or government officials. It was only recently, when a question was raised as to why the Bank of England did not use one or other of the royal arms, that their use on the Scottish notes was challenged. Francis J. Grant, the Lyon King-of-Arms, who investigated the matter, found that the officials were unaware of the regulation.

Long Distance Record

Telephone Call From Limer Covered Distance Of 17,887 Miles

Sir Julian Cahn, noted British cricket captain who took a British eleven to the United States and Canada 18 months ago, holds the world's record for long distance telephoning. Sir Julian's record, said wireless telephone operators of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain when the world cruise ship arrived at Hong Kong recently, was made two weeks before when the ship was at sea between Singapore, Straits Settlements, and Bankok.

Atmospheres prevented the reception of a call from the Empress of Britain to Nottingham, England, by the London receiving terminal. But the call was successfully completed by routing it direct from the ship to San Francisco, overland from there to New York, and by beam wireless to England.

At the time Sir Julian talked he was seven hours ahead of London time. The San Francisco control station was nine hours behind London and New York, of course, three hours ahead of the Pacific station. Rough computation shows a distance of 17,887 miles for the conversation between the Empress of Britain and London of which 9,275 miles was a direct connection between the ship and San Francisco. Direct, the voice would have travelled only 7,950 miles.

Records Made Years Ago

Carry Voice Of Jenny Lind But Cannot Be Found

Somewhere in Sweden or Denmark the "voice" of Jenny Lind, the Swedish nightingale as she is called, is believed to be forgotten. Possibly it is in an attic or a storehouse. The famous singer, it has been revealed, made records in Paris in 1887, shortly after the first photograph was put on the market. The records were of the old cylinder type. After Jenny Lind's death, it is believed, they were sent either to Stockholm or Copenhagen. A Swedish newspaper is appealing to its readers to search their attics, old trunks and boxes in case they may possess the precious records without knowing it.

Gift For King George

Ruler Of Tonga Gives Ancient Turtle With History

King George is to be presented a three-hundred-year-old turtle with a history when Queen Salote, the six-foot-three ruler of Tonga, arrives in London. She is now on her way with her son, who attends an English school. In 1774 Captain Cook, famous British navigator, made a forced landing, owing to shortage of provisions, at the Pacific Islands of Tonga. His reception, to his surprise, was so warm that he renamed them the Friendly Islands, the name by which they have been known ever since. Captain Cook had a turtle, then 160 years old, on board, intended as a present for George III. He gave it as a peace offering to King Tubou, of Tonga. Queen Salote, his descendant, inherited the turtle.

Boy Seems Unlucky

Thinks Eleven Accidents In Nine Years

Nine-year-old Victor Holmes of Pendlebury, Scotland, thinks 11 accidents in nine years too many. He is recovering from No. 11, which was upsetting boiling water on his legs. Victor has been saved from drowning three times, has been in three street accidents, has been bitten by a dog, burned by blazing carbide, and has dislocated his elbow and become entangled in the spokes of a cart wheel.

Delving Into The Past To Piece Together The Story Of The Lost People Of England

Little by little, the patient toil of the archaeologist is piecing together the strange story of the lost peoples of England. How they lived and worked; their dwellings; the gods they worshipped in those far off days when Rome was young—always, these things are again emerging into the light.

Yet it is a story with many missing chapters still. Here and there, hard by some mysterious monolith or earthwork, excavations reveal concrete evidence of a civilization that grew and died centuries before recorded history. But who the peoples were, how and why they disappeared, no man can say with any certainty.

Almost half-way in the train journey between Plymouth and London, the Canadian visitor will note hillside mounds with what appear to be the irregular lines of old encampments. Round the hills they rise, interconnecting in obvious design. Occasionally, earthworks rise above plain and rising land. Stone circles add their touch of mystery. They are part of the great system of links of green roads which traversed England from sea to sea long before Britain heard the tramp of Roman legions or the first Celt crossed the narrow sea from Gaul.

Who dwell there and why were these great earthworks needed? The usual explanation is that they were built for defence. But defence against whom? The earthworks at Maiden Castle in Dorset cover five miles. What peoples in those dim days could have needed such elaborate defence? What peoples were so numerous as to hope to carry them by assault?

Dr. R. E. M. Wheeler, who has been conducting excavations at Maiden Castle, says that the multiple defences there imply a large population. In one pit, more than 4,000 sling stones were found. There were loom weights cut from chalk, innumerable bone arrowheads, even a piece of carbonized wheat bread.

Who were these people who came and went and left no history?

Archaeology has many theories but so far no concrete fact. They are the lost peoples of England.

Depends Largely On Health

No Hard And Fast Rule For Reaching Century Mark

These centenarians get more confidence every day.

A woman in Mitchell, Ontario, who is 101 rises at half past four every morning and attributes her long life to early rising.

No doubt she goes to bed early and has her eight hours, but what's the use of living to 100 if one goes to bed early in the evening and gets up in the middle of the night?

Another centenarian will say that the secret of long life is to not get up early.

One will say that long life is only attained by total abstinence and no smoking. Yet there are plenty of centenarians who will claim that a "lightness" and plenty of good tobacco kept them in perfect health.

So there can be no hard and fast rule for reaching the 100th year. What suits one person does not suit another. If total abstinence from alcohol and tobacco are the secrets, then there are thousands of people in Ontario who ought to live to 100 but won't.

Largely it depends primarily on a sound constitution, moderation in eating and drinking, plenty of fresh air and exercise—and freedom from organic ailments and worry.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Valuable To Gardeners

An ordinary tool, fully matured and sound in wind and limb, is worth twenty dollars to a gardener, according to Prof. A. E. Coventry of the University of Toronto. He does not guarantee that such a price can be obtained, but gives the assurance that every tool has a value not always recognized as an insect destroyer.

Red Clover Always Popular

Seed Supply Is Not As Large This Year

Red clover is always in popular demand in Canada and promises to be in more than average demand this spring owing to the unusual shortage and high price of alfalfa and timothy seed. According to the Seed Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture the red clover seed supply is not as large as in most years. Last year's total production in Canada was about two and one-half million pounds, and with the half million pounds or so of imported English red clover seed there will be available for seeding in Canada this spring about three million pounds. The normal annual Canadian consumption is more than this being between four and five million pounds.

The continued low purchasing power of farmers will of course have an effect in reducing seed purchases, but the relatively low price for red clover seed, as compared with alfalfa seed, will probably increase the preference for red to the extent that the total supply of red clover seed available will likely all be needed before the season is over.

Most of last year's red clover seed crop in Canada was grown in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, which is fortunate from the standpoint of seed hardness and purity. The greater part of this seed is now in the hands of the seed houses for resale, but considerable quantities are still held by the growers in the Plantagenet area in Eastern Ontario and in the Montreal district in Quebec.

Further information as to sources of supply may be obtained from the Seed Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Made Aviation History

Plane That Once Commanded Headlines Now Carrying Fish

Lastly winging its way, a huge aeroplane of the monoplane type, may be seen daily passing a scheduled fish run between Cheecham, Alberta, 200 miles north of Edmonton, and the numerous lakes in the northland. Once it commanded newspaper headlines and played a part in making aviation history.

With Bert Balchen and Floyd Bennett at the controls, the big ship, in 1928, resented Baroness Clauthor von Huenfeldt, Captain James Fitzmaurice and Captain Hermann Koehl, forced down on the first east-west trans-Atlantic flight, on lonely Greenly Island, off the rockbound coast of Labrador.

The crew of the Bremen hopped off from Ireland on April 12. Their gasoline supply became exhausted after a 2,125-mile flight across the ocean. Almost while flying reach of New York, their objective, they were forced to land. Balchen and Bennett, in response to an SOS, rescued them from the rocky island in the Straits of Belle Isle where they had smashed their aeroplane.

Later, the big monoplane carried the mother of Charles A. Lindbergh from Mexico City to New York when the flying colonel was engaged in North and South American flight. For three years the big, all-metal ship loaded with eight-aces, was a familiar sight over Niagara Falls. To-day, it is relegated to the commonplace task of hauling fish to market from the lakes in Northern Alberta.

GARDENING

Gordon L. Smith

Shapes And Sizes

Annual flowers are classified under various heads in the seed catalogues. Attention must be paid, of course, to time of blooming and color. Height should also be noted as a medium sized plant hidden by some bushy stocks or tall Cosmos, will be "born to bluish unseen". But these are only the most elemental points which every gardener of a few years experience now notes automatically. There are other and finer distinctions. Certain shades blend well together and often a whole bed will be selected with this blending in mind. Of course for this sort of thing, all the plants must bloom during the same period. Fragrance should be taken into account, as there are some spicy things like Evening Scented Stock, Nicotiana, Microseris, Sweet Shulan and Verbena, which while rather plain as plants, fill the whole garden with a delightful odor, more especially in the evening. In shaded quarters, tuberous rooted Begonias, Panaces, and wild flowers will do well. In fact, they prefer this location to any other. In partial shade, Clarkia, Annual Larkspur, Lupine, Nicotiana, Philox, and Verbena should be grown. On poor soil, Portulaca is a favorite as well as Alyssum, Sweet-scented Stock, Linum, Calendula, Calliopsis, Sunflowers, Scabellaria, Salpiglossis, Marigolds, Petunias, and many others. These will also successfully resist dry weather. For cutting purposes, there is a long list to choose from but it should include Cypripedium (Baby's Breath), useful for making up bouquets. There are several hardy annuals which can be cut in the spring and then the bloom open and dried for winter bouquets. These include the Straw Flower, Statice, Acoronium, Rhodanthus and others.

Fruit For The Garden

A summer apple like Yellow Transparent, Astrachan or Melba should be chosen for dessert purposes, or Duchess for cooking—for fall. Wealthy for early winter the McIntosh or Delicious; and for late winter the Northern Spy. In the Prairie Provinces or Northern Quebec and Ontario, there are some new hardy types as well as good crab apples available. Among sweet cherries, Windsor, Bing and Tartarian are recommended, while for money and Early Richmond are standards of the other type. Clapp's Favorite is one of the best pears, coming very early while Bartlett is a good later sort. Plums are grown almost anywhere in Canada, as well as currants, raspberries, strawberries, blackberries, thimble berries, loganberries and gooseberries. Grapes are fairly hardy, and among the best are the Lindley.

Precautionary Measures Needed In Selecting Field Crops To Be Grown In Dry Areas In West

Have No Cause To Be Afraid Of Radio

We are getting to be unduly afraid of the radio. When a statesman with a cause on an axe goes on the air he modestly claims 20,000,000 listeners and upwards. The odd thing is that few rise to question his figures. Are there not 15,000,000 homes with radios in the country? Are there not 4.1 persons per family? Doesn't this make something like 75,000,000 listeners hanging on the orator's every word?

But no one really knows how many of the nation's radios are tuned in on this particular earth-shaking event. We know the millions of radios that are not tuned; the dials turned to the dance music program, the comedians, the face creams, the shaving soaps, the folk songs, the cigarettes, the rumbas. No doubt, when you have made all deductions, like an income-tax statement, there will still be an impressive remainder. A national figure over the radio and address perhaps five million listeners. But his speech on the front page of the papers next day will have 35,000,000 readers.—New York Times.

Only One Allowed

There can be only one "Atatürk" in Turkey and that is the Great Mustafa Kemal. Thus reads the law which has just been passed by the Turkish parliament at Angora. All other persons are forbidden to use the name for it means "Father of the Turk" or "The Greatest Turk."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SPRING LIGHTNING

Lightning and moonlight pictures are unusual and fascinating and you can take them with any kind of camera.

April showers not only bring May flowers but night-time electrical storms as well. And there's your chance for sensational lightning pictures.

With the dark, clouded skies the sharp ribbons of lightning spread in fantastic, fascinating flashes and when caught by the camera, the resulting picture is really something to talk about and add variety and interest to your snapshot album.

There is no trick involved in taking lightning pictures. In fact, it's the simplest way to calculate a moonlight exposure is to give 25 minutes for each 1/100 second exposure that would be given the same scene by moonlight. For example, the exposure in bright sunlight for a landscape with a dark-toned object in the immediate foreground, would be 1/25 of a second with stop f11 or U.S. 8. Then the exposure by the light of a full moon would be 10 minutes with the same stop. This could be cut down to 10 minutes with stop f16 or U.S. 11. For a landscape without a dark-toned object in the immediate foreground, 35 minutes with f8 or U.S. 6 would be ample, and for distant landscapes the exposure can be from 10 to 15 minutes.

If a daylight effect is desired, the exposure must be multiplied by four, and this applies only to nights when the sky is clear and the moon is full. With a single lens and all fixed focus cameras, use the largest stop and double the exposures given above.

So let the sky light your way to out-of-the-ordinary pictures.

JOHN VAN GULDER.

The scarcity of feed crops during the past season became more serious when it decreased the efficiency of farm horse power, at the very time that power was typically needed to enable return to more normal conditions.

Experiments and observations at the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Saskatchewan, indicate that precautionary measures in the future should include growing those crops which are now known to be more certain of production. Annual feed crops offer more security in most cases, when grown on summer-fallowed land.

Barren soils grown on summer-fallowed land at the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, during the past thirteen years have never failed to produce reasonably good crops of fodder. Grasses and legumes have failed to provide stands in a dry season. When established in a favourable location or in seasons of good rainfall, they have produced fair yields. Due to failures in dry seasons, grasses and legumes grown in definite rotations have produced 40 to 60 per cent. less fodder than oat hay grown on summer-fallow.

When grasses and legumes are to be grown, they should be sown on land that is likely to be favoured with more than the average amount of soil moisture, such as can be supplied by run-off water by natural or artificial means. Tests indicate that seeding may be done in early spring or in June, also in the late fall in some districts. At the same time consideration should be given to prevailing soil moisture and seasonal conditions. The seed should be sown shallowly on a firm, level seed-bed.

Annual fodders, such as cereal crops in the late fall or early stage, are more adaptable to dry farming conditions. The seeds are large and may be planted deeply and leave the soil in a lumpy condition to prevent soil drifting. Wheat is a valuable feed for all classes of livestock either as fodder or grain. Protein spring rye, Banner oats and Colman barley are also good annual hay crops. When grain crops are sown in combination for hay purposes the yield and palatability are likely to be improved. Fall rye is very useful as an early maturing hay crop or as a supplementary pasture crop. Fall rye and Banner oats sown 85 pounds each per acre at any time from early spring to June 30, provide excellent annual pasture.—H. J. Kemp, Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask.

Baking Monster Pie

Yorkshire Village Alms To Be Two Former Records

Up in Denby Dale, in Yorkshire, England, they have, for the past two centuries, always baked a special, gigantic pie to mark an event of national rejoicing. And, this year, with the Royal Jubilee to be celebrated, they have decided to go the limit, and bake a pie bigger and better than has ever been baked before. Which means something, when two past records are considered. One pie, baked during the last century, took 31 horses to pull it on to the fair grounds where it was cut. Another pie, baked in 1926, was cut into 20,000 portions which were sold in aid of a hospital. Now, if this year's pie is going to beat all records, how many horses will be needed to pull it, and how many pieces will be cut from it?

New Signalling System

A new signalling system, with photo-electric "eye" apparatus and lookout screens for signal boxes, is being considered in London for the new main-line railway. Traffic lights away will be made visible on the screens in thick fog or darkness, and signalmen will be able to "look in" at approaching traffic. All four main groups may be converted to the new system in three years.

YOUR HANDWRITING REVEALS YOUR CHARACTER!

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT
(Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

Mrs. L. R. writes as follows: "I am a widow with two children, and have been corresponding with a man from the West. He wishes to marry me, and although I should never see him, his letters are so pleasant that I find myself drawn to him. He is married, but has not lived with his wife for some years, and offers to get a divorce if I accept his offer of marriage. I feel that I should remarry, because I am still young, but I naturally don't want to make a mistake. My first marriage was very happy, and my husband left me a substantial sum of money. Any help you care to give me will be welcome."

I am sorry that I cannot be over-optimistic about your chances of making a really favourable marriage with this man, Mrs. R. He is not generous—he is, as a matter of fact, rather a narrow point of view; not really brimful. He is likely to get very irritable. If he had temper, and whilst a lot of us have this little trait at times, allied as it is in this case with narrowness of mind, it shows that this man is not easy to live with. He is rather changeable, too. He will be inconsistent, not at all stable, temperamental, but fickle in his moods. It would be difficult to understand him at times.

Another characteristic that stands out in this man's vanity. He expresses this in one of his letters to you when he remarks on the number of lady friends that he has had, and whilst he is endeavouring to convey a subtle compliment to you, in that he prefers you to all the others, this also shows conceit. And his hand-writing bears this out very clearly. I intimated that he is not very generous. I would go further and say that he is economical and cautious to the point of parsimony.

As regards yourself, your writing shows that you have a rather emotional nature, you are quick to feel joys and sorrows, and possess a marked capacity for affection. Yours is essentially a nature that needs company, there is nothing of the cold or aloof type about you. You are ardent, lovable, spontaneous—like lots of fun, and have a liking for being "on the go".

You are still young, and I certainly agree with you that marriage would be an excellent thing for you—provided that you get the right sort of partner. Your previous happy choice has given you a standard that it may not be easy to parallel, and you have no doubt that the opportunity will again arise. In the meantime, I am sorry that I cannot advise you to accept the man whose writing you sent to me, with-out, at least, taking an opportunity of checking up my summing up of his character.

Would you like an analysis of your character? And have you any friends whose real nature you would like to know? Send specimens of the writing you wish to be analysed, stating birthdate in each case, and enclose 10c coin for each specimen. Send with 3c stamped addressed envelope, or Lawrence Hibbert, Grapho-analyst, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, Man. Letters are confidential and replies will be sent as quickly as possible.

Would Make Gold Cheap

Polish Scientist With Secret Z-Ray Claims New Extraction Process
What would happen if Professor Dunkowsky, the Polish scientist, should prove his claim that by his secret Z-ray process he can extract from auriferous earth eight times more gold than is possible by the methods hitherto employed?

Authorities in Paris admit that it would mean the conversion of the precious metal into a base one, perhaps of no greater value than lead.

But the same authorities ridicule such a possibility, despite the report of M. Bonn, expert in chemistry to the Paris courts. After testing Dunkowsky's apparatus at San Remo, Italy, he says it is unquestionable that it permits the extraction of much larger quantities of gold than any other known process.

Maitre Jean Charles Legrande, the Paris lawyer, stated that he intends to demand a retrial of the case in which the Paris court sentenced Dunkowsky to two years' imprisonment for fraud.

Little Journeys In Science

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

GASOLINE
Gasoline consists of a mixture of liquid compounds known as hydrocarbons. The use of gasoline as a source of power in engines is due to the fact that the gasoline is easily changed to a gaseous state. A mixture of gasoline vapour and air, when ignited, burns instantaneously, or, as commonly expressed, explodes. The mixture of gasoline vapour and air is led into the cylinder of the engine where it is ignited by an electric spark.

The "ethyl gasoline" which is now used so widely, is gasoline to which has been added a small amount of two colorless liquid compounds known as lead tetraethyl and ethylene bromide. The lead tetraethyl prevents the "knocking" of the engine when the engine is under high pressure; the reason for this is as yet not known with certainty. The use of the lead compound alone causes lead to be set free during the reaction, and as a result the ignition points of the spark plugs become clogged. When ethylene bromide is added, the lead compound does not become free, which is present in the bromide, producing the volatile lead bromide which escapes in the exhaust.

In former days kerosene was the most important product obtained from crude oil. To-day, however, gasoline is by far the most valuable of these products and hence science has put forth every effort to increase the yield. This is done by distilling kerosene and similar oils at high temperatures under pressure. This process is known as the "cracking" of oils. The average crude oil from the large producing areas of Texas and Oklahoma contains about 50% gasoline. Modern improvements in the cracking process have enabled oil refiners to increase the gasoline yield to 70% of the crude oil or higher, depending on the nature and quality of the gasoline which is desired.

Recent experiments have shown that the gas hydrogen under high pressure changes powdered coal suspended in hot oil into lubricating oils, gasoline, and similar products. When the supply of petroleum becomes exhausted this process may supply man with these products so necessary to our modern civilization.

New Machine Perfected

Can Determine Centre Of Gravity Of Human Body

A machine which can determine the centre of gravity of the human body has been designed and built in New South Wales at the Melbourne University.

The machine was described and demonstrated before the physiological section of the Science Congress in Melbourne by Prof. Osborne and Although the machine is very A. H. Paul, who perfected it, heavy, it is so sensitive that a weight of one-third of an ounce placed one foot from its centre will disturb the balance. Disturbance of the centre of gravity in certain diseases may be determined by the machine.

CHRIST THE SAVIOUR

Golden text: For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have eternal life. John 3:16.

Devotional reading: Isaiah 53:4-9.

Explanations and Comments

God's Purpose in Sending His Son. John 3:16, 17. The Jewish idea was that God would come to judge the world of the Gentiles in the sense of condemning it, while salvation would be granted to one race alone, the Jews. The statement now is made that God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have eternal life. John 3:16 is probably the best loved of all the verses in the Bible. A Japanese has called it "The Fujiyama text of the Bible," meaning that it is the great background of all other truths of the Bible, even as the beautiful mountain of Fuji is in the background of nearly all Japanese pictures. "What is the heaviest word in the language?" Mr. Spurgeon once asked, and no one could answer "The word so in John 3:16," he then said. "Try to weigh that word, if you can."

"The atonement" was not the cause of God's love—His love was the cause of the atonement" (John McDowell).

Christ Died for Sinners. Romans 5:6-10. For while we were yet morally weak, and the need was great, Christ died for sinners. For scarcely will one die for a just (righteous) man; though possibly for the more lovable good man. But God gave His only Son toward us by the death of Christ for us while we were yet sinners.

"God loved the world. He saw that we might be made for Himself. He stooped to set us free."

And did not spare the cost of Calvary. God loved man so. Do we?" (Grace E. Uhler).

"If such grace was shown us, then, when we sin, we sin much more justified as we have now been by His blood, shall we be saved through Him from the wrath of God, and His wrath hung over us. This was the situation which had to be faced: was their love in God equal to it? Yes, when we were enemies we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son; much more, then, shall the love which wrought so incredibly for us in our extremity save our salvation to the end. The Living God, in virtue of His life, will save us to the uttermost" (James Denney).

A Queer Combination

Six Blind Musicians Will Play For Deaf Dancers

Six blind musicians in England can also thank the wireless for allowing them to form their own orchestra. By listening in to different broadcasts, they memorized various pieces by memory, being the only way in which they could learn the music, of course. Next month they are to play at a dance in Leeds Town Hall. The dancers will all be deaf mutes who have had to use their eyesight to learn the steps, not being able to hear their instructor. They are taught by watching the steps of couples who are normal. On the face of it this queer combination of dancers and musicians may appear pathetic. But is it not rather triumphant, that handicaps are not insurmountable? The musicians will not see the dancers, the dancers will not hear the musicians . . . but the spirit is there!

A horse's lifetime is usually figured at about 25 to 30 years, but English writers have mentioned horses that lived to be over 60.

BUDGET RATIFIED AFTER DEBATE IN HOUSE AT OTTAWA

Ottawa.—Winners in three straight divisions, the Budget Bill passed the House of Commons as the climax to the strangest debate in years.

With majorities ranging from 153 to 25, Conservatives beat back two amendments from the opposition and passed the main motion. Then they trooped from the greenwalled chamber, shouting and cheering Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes.

Conservatives and Liberals combined to snow under, 185-12, the social credit amendment moved by the Progressives. It was the first of the three votes.

Then the government beat back the Liberal amendment, calling for an immediate election. The vote was 104-73 with five U.F.A. members and one Progressive voting with the government (Spence, Gies, Progressive speaker, Irvine, Carmichael) and six U.F.A.-Labor-Progressives with the Liberals (Cootie, Mitchell, MacInnis, Woodsworth, Heaps and Miss Macphail).

Then came the main motion, the actual ratification of the budget, which passed 98-74. Eleven Progressives lined up with the Liberals but A. M. Carmichael (Prog., Kindersley) swung along with the government.

Although it was a short budget debate, it had one unusual feature. Of the 30 speakers, 21 were Conservatives, six were Progressives and three Liberals. Liberals retired to the sidelines after the first day or two although usually opposition speakers hammer away at a government in a constant stream in the budget debate. The Conservatives blocked their own budget by putting up nine speakers.

For Direct Relief

Federal Government Loans To B.C. And Saskatchewan

Ottawa.—Loans amounting to $1,250,000 and $1,000,000 for British Columbia and Saskatchewan respectively have been approved by the government to assist these provinces in taking care of direct relief, according to several orders-in-council tabled in the House of Commons.

Saskatchewan's $1,000,000 is to pay outstanding accounts for relief in the drought areas. In addition Saskatchewan is given some further relief from immediate payment of loans made by the Dominion which matured last month. These totalled $1,929,015. They were extended for another year.

Starting Memorial Fund

Australia Follows Plan Of Other Dominions To Mark Jubilee

Canberra, Australia.—Following similar steps in the United Kingdom and other Dominions, the Australian government announced that with His Majesty's approval it was launching an Australian-wide appeal for a memorial fund for the royal jubilee. The fund will be devoted here to combatting maternal mortality. The government is opening the fund with a donation of £50,000 (Australian), equivalent to about $193,000.

Jail Term For Stowaways

Halifax.—Two stowaways who got their sailing schedules crossed wound up in jail with 10-day terms ahead of them. Ralph Taylor, 19, of Lethbridge, Alta., and Leo Williams, 36, of Moncton, N.B., had New York as their destination when they boarded the liner, Aurania. But when they came out of hiding three days from Halifax, they found they were on their way to England. They were brought back on the return voyage.

Edmonton.—Suggestion that relief authorities of Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Regina meet semi-annually to exchange information and so increase efficiency was made in a report by H. F. McKee, manager of Edmonton's special relief department.

Austria Increasing Army

Decides To Follow Example Of Germany For Arms Equality

Vienna.—The Austrian government decided to follow Germany's example in increasing its armed forces.

A 60-word communique, issued shortly after the cabinet met with Premier Kurt Schuschnigg presiding, disclosed steps to achieve that end already have been started.

Under the treaty of St. Germain, Austria's army was limited to 30,000 men, this figure including officers and "depot troops."

"The cabinet asserted Austria's right to arms equality, saying:

"The cabinet expressed the unanimous conception that the granting to Austria of full equality was a self-evident supposition."

Whether military conscription such as that re-instituted in Germany in mid-March was contemplated was not revealed.

Military circles, however, lent attention to reports an immediate effort would be made to increase the present army from 30,000 to 60,000 and that such effort would be "accompanied by the gradual elimination of private armies such as the Heimwehr and the Catholic storm troops."

Ethiopia Moves Troops

Government Explains Action Taken To Defend Frontiers

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.—Ethiopia is moving troops to her frontiers, authoritative sources revealed, to meet what her government regards as a threat from Italy's East African forces.

The Ethiopian detachments were said to be moving in large numbers to the Eritrean and Italian Somali borders.

Government sources were quick to explain the activities were solely for defensive purposes. Described as being organized on a more efficient basis than Ethiopia's tribesmen ever before have been, the troops were under strict orders from Emperor Haile Selassie to avoid contact with Italian border garrisons.

Ethiopia has no intention of undertaking an offensive, it was authoritatively explained.

U.S. Drouth Conditions

Believe Arid Area Is Beginning To Spread Eastward

Washington.—Severe dry conditions which observers noted closely paralleled those marking the beginning of last summer's disastrous drouth were reported in the weekly weather and crop bulletin of the United States weather bureau.

The bureau said the precipitation still was deficient over most of the western great plains region and that the arid area was beginning to spread eastward. It was recalled that this was what occurred last year.

"Some adjacent sections to the eastward are becoming dry, notably eastern Kansas, while precipitation was deficient over most of the northern great plain," the report said. It noted the continuation of dust storms in "the severely dry western area."

Kansas is the largest wheat producing state in the United States, most of the crop being grown in the eastern part of that state.

Fights Blinding Snow Storm

Aviator Makes Hazardous Trip From North With Wounded Men

Winnipeg.—The record of northern aviation has had still another glowing achievement enregistered.

Flying through a driving snowstorm, Pilot Ted Stull, of Wings Limited, brought two seriously injured men from God's Lake, 400 miles north of here. Visibility was almost nil, with every other plane in the area grounded.

Elevators For Argentine

Buenos Aires.—The Argentine government will spend 10,000,000 pesos ($3,000,000) on the construction of two modern grain elevators in the port of Rosario. The construction of these elevators will mark the beginning of the government's plan to erect a total of 14 terminal grain elevators in the main shipping centres of the country.

Ireland Would Trade On Equality Basis

Anxious To Deal With Other Countries States Dublin Lord Mayor

Toronto.—Ireland is anxious to trade dollar for dollar with other countries—England not excluded—if she may do so on a basis of equality. Rt. Hon. Alfred Byrne, T.D., lord mayor of Dublin, said in addressing a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club.

Ireland, he said, would welcome any influence which would bring the people from the north and south together voluntarily in a spirit of co-operation. Such an influence might come from an outside country. "Canada has shown the way," he added, "why should not Ireland do likewise?"

Domestic difficulties in the Irish Free State arose from conditions similar to those in Canada, he said. Youths have left farms desolate for the glamour of the larger cities. They had come to cities and the government was unable to offer them the employment they looked for.

As a remedy for this condition he advocated government stabilization of farm produce prices.

Amendment Carried

Senate Rules Limit Of $5,000 On Farm Loans

Ottawa.—By a vote of 13-5, with party lines divided, a maximum of $5,000 was placed on mortgage loans of the Canadian farm loan board under an amendment carried in the senate banking and commerce committee.

Moved by Senator Lendrum Means (Cons., Winnipeg), the amendment, in the words of supporters of the change, is to "spread out the fund and make it available to the greatest number."

The repayment period remains at "not in excess of 25 years." An amendment by Senator C. C. Ballantyne (Cons., Montreal) to limit the period to 15 years was defeated, while an amendment of Senator E. S. Little (Lib., London) to make the period 20 years encountered the same fate.

Plan Limited Inflation

Sum Involved In United States About Five Hundred Million

Washington.—Inflation, limited but none the less certain, has been revealed as a significant by-product of new United States treasury financing policy.

The government has so much cash in its vaults it intends to pay off a quantity of maturing obligations in currency, thereby adding to the amount of money in circulation and available for new investments.

At the very utmost, $500,000,000 of inflation would be involved.

Huge Sum For Charity

London.—London's fashionable west end lived up to a splendid reputation when a packed house saw the charity premiere of the film "Sanders of the River," starring Paul Robeson, with the better seats selling for $50 each. The performance netted $17,000 for a newspaper press fund.

SEE DANGER TO CANADIAN CREDIT IN ONTARIO BILL

London.—Commentators in the Times and the Daily Telegraph saw a danger to the credit of Canada in the Ontario government's bill to invalidate power contracts with four Quebec companies.

The Times said the city felt the basis of credit would be destroyed if contracts authorized by one Ontario government were to be destroyed by another.

If the bill was enacted, said the Daily Telegraph, "a blow will be delivered against the standing of Canadian provincial bonds in this country." It said the Dominion government should act quickly to prevent its credit being thrown upon Canadian securities as a whole.

The Financial Times said it had been suggested in several quarters that the matter be raised in parliament at the earliest possible moment, and J. H. Thomas, Dominion secretary, urged to take the subject up with Canadian authorities.

"Ontario is reputed to be the richest province in the Dominion. The action she now contemplates threatens the whole basis of credit," said the paper. It said that the clause in the bill prohibiting companies affected from appealing to the courts had aroused the greatest apprehension. It was described as "simply iniquitous."

Meeting With Success

Chancellor Asks Nova Scotia Theatre To Close Good Friday

Halifax.—Thirteen theatre managers in Nova Scotia had promised to lock their doors on Good Friday, Rev. Dr. C. F. Curran, chancellor of the Roman Catholic diocese of Halifax, said as he outlined success encountered in the drive to make the day one of religious observance.

Three more managers had announced their intention of opening their theatres only for night shows, and several others were giving the proposal careful consideration.

No question of a boycott on theatres was involved, Dr. Curran said. Since the advent of motion pictures, Good Friday gradually had become a holiday instead of a holy day, he said.

May Grow Soft Wheat

B.C. Is Investigating Varieties And Most Suitable Zones

Winnipeg.—Definite conclusions may be expected next year in the soft wheat investigation now being carried out in British Columbia. It was reported by Dr. L. H. Newman, Dominion cerealist, at the meeting of the associate committees on grain research of the national research council.

The investigation is being made to determine the varieties and zones best suited for the growing of soft wheat.

Price Of Canadian Flax

Sarnia, Ont.—Increase in the price of Canadian flax was forecast by Howard Fraleigh of Forest, former M.L.A., who was chief flax purchasing agent for the allies during the Great War. Canadian flax is now finding a market in Northern Ireland where it is quoted at 18 to 20 cents a pound when ready for spinning.

Restricted To Premiers

Ottawa.—Official invitations to the celebrations of the King's Silver Jubilee in London, May 6, will be restricted to prime ministers of the dominions, Sir George Perley, acting leader of the government, told the House of Commons.

Health Conference

Ottawa.—Approval of the proposed convention of a Dominion-wide conference of ministers of health whose main object will be to ascertain general conditions of health in Canada, was given by the senate public health and inspection of foods committee.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT "Acid Indigestion"

A WAY THAT RELIEVES THE CAUSE IN A FEW MINUTES

Many people who think they have "weak stomachs" or "indigestion," doctors say, suffer in reality from nothing more serious than acid stomach. And this common ailment can usually be relieved now, in minutes. All you do is take faster Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals. This acts to almost immediately neutralize the stomach acidity that brings on your trouble. You feel like a new person.

Try this just once. Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS", or the new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. But watch out that you get the Genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. Made in Canada.

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

THE TENDERFOOT

By GEORGE B. RODNEY

Author of "The Coronado Trail," "The Canyon Trail," etc.

Even Dustin grinned at the thought of the old ranch-man, once the Nestor of Seco Valley, being searched for a gun in a murder case. Gary was laughing frankly as he thrust a big hand into the side-pocket of Joe Carr's coat. But that grin suddenly froze on his face as he drew from the pocket a wadded mass of green-and-yellow silk. He seized it by one dirty corner and shook it out and all the watchers started back as a short heavy Derringer pistol clattered to the floor.

Garcia's eyes bulged and Crews's face changed. Carl, grown suddenly old and grave, stared at the pistol as Garcia reached for it but Stone was too quick for him. He quickly retrieved the weapon and examined it carefully and a silence fell that Dustin broke.

"I reckon this clears me of all suspicion," he smiled. "When the Hour-glass gets to shootin' their own partners they're droppin' pretty damned low."

Gary turned sharply on him: "You're cleared, Dustin," he said. "But I'm givin' you a word of advice. Say nothin' of this here till I tell you. If any word gets out, I'll know who told it. He'll have me to reckon with. Get me?"

Dustin looked at him quietly and a chilly feeling ran up his back. He did not fear many men but he had a most healthy regard for old Jim Gary.

"Good Lord," he snapped: "I'm not interested in Hour-Glass killin' off Hour-Glass. It's rat eat rat as far as I'm concerned. I'll say not a word about it."

The door slammed behind him and Gary turned to old Carr.

TIRED and IRRITABLE

Do you feel weak and nervous? Is your housework a burden? Take Lydia's Pink Pills for Women's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. M. A. K. Miller of Woodstock, New Brunswick, says: "A neighbor brought me your Vegetable Compound. It helped me so much that I am taking it now as the change."

Get a bottle NOW. It may be just the medicine YOU need.

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

"Listen now, Joe," his voice had grown suddenly old and tired for he had been fond of Joe for more than a generation: "You got some explainin' to do, Joe. Where'd you get that Derringer?"

"I never had a Derringer in my life," said Carr dully. "I ain't got one now."

Garcia quietly "broke" the pistol. One barrel had been fired, in the other a loaded cartridge nestled and the lower barrel was foul from the explosion. He extracted the empty shell and fitted it to the big lead bullet that Epps quietly handed him. It fitted. Still Carr stared at him. Then Stone took the pistol from Garcia's hand and examined it. Crews's face was a study. He could not disbelieve the evidence of his own eyes; yet . . . He knew old Joe Carr and loved him.

"I think we're backin' at a knot, Sheriff," said Stone quietly.

Garcia turned on him. "When I need a tenderfoot to tell me my business, I'll call you," he said acidly. "What you got that's new?"

"A little bit of brains," said Stone. "You can see for yourself that the man's shot on the right side. . . . Just above the liver. Every one in this room knows that he was standin' on Mr. Carr's right. Did Carr shoot around the man and shoot right toward himself?"

Epps and Crews both nodded and Garcia looked puzzled. "Are you sure Carr was standin' as you say?" he asked. "Absolutely certain."

"Here," said Epps quickly: "We wait till you solve this case before we treat the man. I want some one to help him over to my house. I'll take care of him till you can get a regular doctor."

"One minute . . ." Gary turned to Carr: "Joe," he said gently: "God knows I don't like to arrest you but I've got to. The evidence is too strong against you. If you give me your word of honor not to make any break, I'll take you over to my house as a guest till we can find out what's to be done. If this man dies, I'll be a charge of murder I suppose. You say his name's Keene?"

"Yes, Gerald Keene," said Crews.

"He and Joe own the Hour-Glass together. That's the best thing to do, Jim. You take care of Joe. I'll get out to the Hour-Glass. I'm afraid I'll take some explainin' to make Edith understand."

With Logan's help they got the wounded man over to Epps's house and a woman was secured to act as a nurse and Crews drew Stone aside.

"You better stop here to-night, I reckon," he said. "What is it?" he said sharply for Stone was tugging at his pocket.

"I was going to say that I'd better stay in here," said Stone. "I've got a clew I want to look into. Crews . . . old man Carr never shot that man."

"He drew from his pocket the green-and-yellow bandanna. 'You can't tell one Derringer from another,' he said: 'But wearing apparel is different. Did you ever know any man wear a damnable thing like this? It's got three bullet-holes in it so there's no doubt about what took place. The would-be murderer had the gun wrapped in this and he fired through it. That's why we didn't see any sparks. Did you ever see any one wearing a thing like this?'"

Crews shook his head. Things were moving too fast for him.

"I never did," he said. "Well . . . I just got to get back to the Hour-Glass. Look out for young Keene and old Joe, will you, Stone?"

Stone promised and Crews started the car down the street. The moment darkness hid the car, Stone hunted up Epps and almost by force dragged him into his office.

Neither man ever told what took place in that office but in a half-hour Stone emerged triumphant and headed for the street for the little office where Jamieson held forth. That gentleman, bending over a form-case, was matched to a stool and an evil-smelling mass of green-and-yellow silk was thrust under his nose.

"What's that smell like?" demanded Stone sharply.

Jamieson, who had been writing a hasty account of the shooting, sniffed and spat.

"Peeyotl," he said. "Why?"

"That's what struck me," said

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

Stone. "Can you possibly be mistaken?"

"Good Lord, no. It's peeyotl all right. Where'd you get it?"

"Ever see any one wearing a thing like that?"

"I never did . . . Look here, Stone . . . what're you drivin' at?"

Stone told him in well-chosen words and Jamieson looked fazed at the recital.

"It looks to me as though you've got a solid morsel to chew on," he said finally. "I only know one man who can be said to regularly use that infernal stuff. That's the man Peeyotl Gregg out at the Broken Spur. I'll see if I can find him. They'd probably shoot you if you went out there. See me first thing in the mornin'. I may have news for you."

CHAPTER XVI

Sam Dustin headed for the Broken Spur half drunk with liquor and success. Even in his most hopeful moments he could never have hoped that Peeyotl Gregg, having killed Gerald Keene, would place the blame for that killing on Joe Carr. Joe, of all men!

"The only man who could have had a motive," he chuckled. "If Keene dies, Carr gets his half of the Hour-

Glass. I'll take it away from Carr and have the ranch and the mine too."

And the girl . . . Wait! A sudden illuminating thought came to him and he slapped his leg hard. "By God," he said. "I've got it and I've got the girl . . . But it's pretty hard on Peeyotl. First of all I've got to find out if the man Keene will die."

He hung out of the car and almost leaped into the house. Spike Goddard was flung aside roughly as Dustin jerked the telephone from his hook.

"What're you callin' Doc Epps for?" demanded Spike.

Dustin waved him into silence and Epps' voice came timely across the wire. Goddard could hear it plainly.

"Oh, Dustin at the Broken Spur. Huh? Yes . . . This is Doctor Epps."

"What?"

"Oh . . . Yeah . . . I know who you mean. I brought him over to my house . . . Gerald Keene, of course . . . The partner of old man Carr at the Hour-Glass."

"You are interested, huh? Well, I'll tell you, Dustin."

"What?"

"Epps' voice sounded strained and uncertain but there was no mistaking the words. 'The corner'll be in to-morrow. It looks like a hump neck-lee for old man Carr.'"

Spike Goddard heard it all and stood staring at his partner as he hung up the receiver.

"What the hell has happened, Sam?" he demanded.

He considered Dustin in silence while Dustin told him all that had occurred. Finally:

"Look out you don't trip," he said curtly. "There was a man who held all thirteen trumps but lost the game . . ."

"How could that be, you poor fool?" demanded Dustin.

For answer Spike grinned at him. "It was old-fashioned. What?" he said.

"One man held all thirteen trumps. It was his partner's lead. He led an ace and when his partner trumped it he got mad and shot him. The jury said it was justifiable homicide . . . Mind you haven't bit off too much to chew."

"You fool . . ."

"Dustin grabbed him by the arm. 'Don't you see it yet? Peeyotl Gregg shot this man Keene and planted the pistol on old Joe Carr . . . Joe, who inherits the Hour-glass by the death of Keene. We've got Carr's note and we alone know of old Keene's mine . . .'

"Nobody knows Peeyotl killed him," said Spike.

"I do. Old man Carr'll be held for the murder. He'll hang unless they find out about Peeyotl. Don't you reckon Edith Carr'll marry me to get her father clear?"

Critics of "Social Credit."

With the idea of making available the views held by those outside the local circle, on the all-absorbing question at the present time—Aberhart's Plan, or "Social Credit"—The Sun is reprinting an article from Editor Conquest's Athabasca Echo. The publisher of The Sun will endeavor to present the views on the both sides of this question, and let the readers be the judges. Here is The Echo's article, which had the caption "The Social Credit Mirage": "There seems to be several schools of social credit clamoring for the approval of the electors. The one that appears to be most popular is the one most repudiated by the original prophet. Aberhart can't be content to be an apostle; thus we have two prophets—the false and the true, as Aberhart would say to Sunday school students.

"The political arrogance of Abe is on a par with his religious interpretations of the Biblical prophets. 'I Am the One and Only' he thunders. All the statesmen of the world and schools of political economy which have developed international civilisation to the highest since evolution began are muddling blockheads till Abe dreamed a dream. To him with the Creator's decree: 'By the sweat of thy brow thou shalt eat bread.' Abe says 'give 'em a check on our undeveloped natural resources.' After eons of evolutions it is left to little Alberta and a prophetic fanatic to show the nations of the world what fools they are. Even Socialists realise their dreams can't come true without international co-operation.

"There is agreement among sane thinkers that a great deal of our troubles has been the result of amateur governments rushed into power by some demagog with an Utopian slogan. Let us hope the good sense of the people will save the province from being turned into an aggregation of subsidized paupers with non-negotiable script.

"If Abe would be a true disciple of Jesus whom he professes to follow let him divide up his $3000 a year salary among half-a-dozen less fortunate citizens and advocate an equitable equalisation of salaries, and he will see a wonderful extension of buying power among the common people."

SOCIAL CREDITITES FORM POLITICAL PARTY

The Southern Provincial Social Credit Convention was held in Calgary April 4 and 5. Each constituency organisation had been requested by Leader Wm Aberhart to send seven delegates. The performance there showed that they're in earnest, and no foolin'. A part of the report says: "Wm Aberhart will not contest a seat at the coming election, but if his forces are successful at the polls he will become Premier."

Mrs W W Rogers was present, and is reported as having said:

This is the beginning of the end of orthodox finance, party politics, starvation, and the control of credit by a handful of men.

In thousands of homes of Alberta there is a Bible and lessons of Mr Aberhart's Bible Institute on the radio. There is a revival of Christianity in Alberta since Mr Aberhart began his Social Credit campaign. You can't love your neighbor under the old system—it wouldn't be good business.

The basic dividends are not the main thing in Social Credit. The main thing is economic security.

A Confirmation Service.

Brightback News.

Mr John Clarke of Hansen's Corners has been in the Brightback district, doing a lot of big crushing jobs with his big 80 h.p. outfit.

Mr Max Bowser shipped a truck load of cattle to Edmonton last week. Carvel seems to have its share of excitement—always something happening. Last week, when a Hansen's Corners farmer shipped a carload of steers of unusual size and weight, and as wild as ever as raised in Texas, the beastie, when they entered Carvel, decided to take possession of the town and the entire population; first charging the popular storekeeper, then the school teacher, the restaurant manager, and shoemaker; also the famous blacksmith. Nearly the whole town had to take to cover. Try as they might, the cowboys could not get the steers into the loading chute. Finally the big Velle car was brought into play, and with the two elevator men mounted on the radiator with pike poles, managed to get the ferocious beasts driven into the yards and safely loaded in cattle cars.

Mr H Summerfield is preparing for a visit with friends east of Edmonton in the near future.

Mr V Mohr and Mr W G Hodgson shipped a car of hogs to Edmonton last week.

The Parliamentary Show.

(By J. S. Cowper.)

Each day the split between the Government and the Aberhart social credit group widens; accusations of bad faith are now made.

Major Douglas at first was unbound to get $5000 to come and act as adviser on social credit to the Government; later it was admitted he has a contract, to net him $9000; now it turns out he has a contract that calls for $13,000 in all.

With Hon G N Johnson and J E Brownlee attacking the Aberhart Plan before service clubs and on the radio, and Gov't supporters attacking it is the House, Mr Aberhart's supporters urged him not to accept the invitation of Premier Reid to work out a social credit plan. They accuse the Gov't of acting in bad faith.

Premier Reid announced the Gov't had no thought of redistribution this session; that Hon G Howland was not talking for the Gov't when he advocated, in a speech in the House, cutting down the Legislature to 20 members, selected at large.

Liberal leader, W R Howson, charged that Douglas is being brought here for purely political reasons to create a diversion before the time of election.

Speaking on the raise of the tax on gasoline to 7c, Mr Howson said "If the Gov't had taken steps to decrease the cost of gasoline, I would not object to the tax being raised. In this province we raise more gasoline than we use, and have a quantity for export. Yet, in spite of this, we pay as high or higher than in any part of the Dominion. We ought to be able to buy gasoline for less than those to whom it is shipped outside the province."

Mr. McLaughlin's Busy Season

That well known salesman, Mr J H McLaughlin, was in Stony last week, supervising the distribution of a car of the Elephant Brand Fertilizer. This well-known article, thru its superior merits, has widened its sphere of influence to such an extent that a carload is being delivered, this Spring, at a number of the stations along this line. Previous to the arrival of the car here, a 30-ton carload lot had been delivered to customers at Spruce Grove; and, in addition to these, another large car arrived at the Grove this week.

On Friday, April 5, a carload of Elephant Brand arrived at Duffield Station, and distributed to the farmers.
